Staying Safe with Farm Animals

Mothers of all farm animals are extremely protective and require extra caution.

Never approach animals from behind.

Yelling or loud noises may startle animals causing them to become dangerous.

Don't enter a pen with an animal, even if the animal looks calm and harmless.

Don't feed the farm animals without a farm worker's direction.

Listening to the direction of farm workers is important because they know the farm animals better than anyone.